The Clipper Race is the only place you'll find stockbrokers and housewives racing against taxi drivers, engineers, farmers, students and chief execs. And if you have never sailed before, don't worry. Before the start of the adventure, 40% of the crew were complete novices and a comprehensive training programme is mandatory for all those who participate.

The Clipper Recruitment team is coming to Derry-Londonderry and would love to see you at one of our no obligation presentations. We'll show you some awesome video footage, tell you more about life on board and highlight the incredible sense of achievement that racing around the planet at its most raw, can bring.
